DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Applicant's arguments with respect to Amended claim 1 and New claims 22-31 based on the amendment filed on 15 September 2004 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Therefore, this is Final action.

Applicant cancelled claims 2-21. Therefore, ONLY claims 1 and 22-31 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 22-24, 26-27 and 29-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kim (US6335776B1).

In regard to claims 1, 23-24 and 29, Kim et al. teach (Figs. 3A-B, 4 and 20A-B) a multi-domain liquid crystal display device comprising:

- first and second substrates;
- a liquid crystal layer between the first and second substrates;
- data lines 3 for applying a data signal on the first substrate;

Art Unit: 2871

- gate lines 1 crossing the data lines to apply a gate signal;
- pixel electrodes 13 for driving a liquid crystal of the liquid crystal layer;
- switching devices at each crossing the gate lines and the data lines;
- auxiliary electrode lines 15 formed of the same material of Al, Mo, Cr, Ta or Al alloy as the gate lines (col. 8 lines 52-63);
- a common electrode 17 on the second substrate including opening area in pixel region (claim 23-24).
- a phase differential film (compensation film 29) at least one of the first and second substrates wherein

Claim 22:

- one of the auxiliary electrode line 15 is formed between the pixel electrode 13 and data line 3 at outside of pixel electrode in a pixel as Fig. 3A shown.

Claims 26-27:

- the liquid crystal layer has a positive dielectric anisotropy or negative dielectric anisotropy (col. 4 lines 59-63).

Claim 30:

- the phase differential film includes a negative uniaxial film (col. 9 lines 53-55).

Claim 31:

- the phase differential film includes a negative biaxial film (col. 9 lines 61-67).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claim 25 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kim (US6335776B1) as applied to claims 1, 22-24, 26-27 and 29-31 above, in view of Takeda et al. (US 6724452 B1).

Kim fails to disclose a multi-domain liquid crystal display device with a dielectric structure on the second substrate.

Takeda et al. teach a multi-domain liquid crystal display device with a dielectric structure (dielectric protrusion) on the second substrate as domains regulating means for providing the ion adsorption capacity to the dielectric structure.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to further modify a multi-domain liquid crystal display device as Kim disclosed with a dielectric structure (dielectric protrusion) on the second substrate as domains regulating means for providing the ion adsorption capacity to the dielectric structure as taught by Takada et al. (col. 73 lines 10-17).

Art Unit: 2871

2. Claim 28 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kim (US6335776B1) as applied to claims 1, 22-24, 26-27 and 29-31 above, in view of Patel (US 5841500 A).

Kim fails to disclose a multi-domain liquid crystal display device with the liquid crystal layer including a chiral dopant.

Patel teaches a multi-domain liquid crystal display device with the liquid crystal layer including a chiral dopant for breaking the symmetry by inducing the twist only in one helical direction, and to thereby avoiding scattering from different domains. This solution is well known in the prior art (col. 3 lines 42-47).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to further modify a multi-domain liquid crystal display device as Kim disclosed with the liquid crystal layer including a chiral dopant for breaking the symmetry by inducing the twist only in one helical direction, and to thereby avoiding scattering from different domains as taught by Patel (col. 3 lines 42-47).

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
